Are you or someone you know taking care of an elderly loved one? How would you like to keep your aging parent(s) in their home longer instead of having them go to an assisted care facility?

A combination of Smart Home Technology, Internet Communications, GrandCare Systems - is an affordable investment that can allow family and caregivers to assess the wellness and safety of their loved ones through GrandCare Systems.

The system consists of a control unit, monitor (touch screen) and a source of Internet to provide a display of news, weather, pictures, e-mail, games and interactive reminders to your aging parents. Wireless sensors, blood pressure monitors and weight scales provide feedback to help manage activities of daily living and wellness.

Your parent(s) does not have to interact with the system at all, but if they are able, the system can be the center for e-mails, photos from grandchildren and access to the local weather. The GrandCare System; It's easy and requires ZERO computer experience.

For the approximate cost of 1-2 months of assisted living, you are able to monitor and interact with your parents from any Internet enabled device, anywhere in the world.

This could possibly extend your parents stay in their own home for months or even years.

Current Concepts believes that Home Automation is about leveraging technology to simplify and enhance your lifestyle. Trust us to be your source for all your technology needs and get the peace of mind you deserve. We continue to offer:
